

BBLC's template for non-binding demand indications by network users for incremental capacity

2019

By filling out this form, the network user agrees that the document including all data from the network user, can be shared by BBL Company with other Transmission System Operators for assessing the demand for incremental capacity in the overall system/market area.

I. Background

For harmonizing the process for the development of incremental capacity, rules for incremental capacity have been included in the Network Code on Capacity Allocation Mechanism (CAM NC).

The incremental process starts with the demand assessment phase that begins with the market demand assessment by BBL Company after the annual yearly capacity auction. Interested parties are invited to submit non-binding indications for capacity above the current technical capacity of the BBL interconnector, which is 20,6 GWh/h/yr in forward flow and 7,0 GWh/h/yr in reverse flow. Non binding demand indications may be submitted until 27 August 2019 by sending an e-mail to F.Huening@gasunie.nl.

II. Non-binding demand indications
